General marking principles for National 5 English: Critical Reading

This information is provided to help you understand the general principles you must apply when marking candidate responses to questions in this paper. These principles must be read in conjunction with the specific marking instructions for each question. The marking schemes are written to assist in determining the “minimal acceptable answer” rather than listing every possible correct and incorrect answer.

- (a) Marks for each candidate response must always be assigned in line with these general marking principles and the detailed marking instructions for the relevant question.
- (b) Marking should always be positive. This means that, for each candidate response marks are accumulated for the demonstration of relevant skills, knowledge and understanding: they are not deducted from a maximum on the basis of errors or omissions.
- (c) If a specific candidate response does not seem to be covered by either the principles or detailed marking instructions, and you are uncertain how to assess it, you must seek guidance from your team leader.

The marking instructions indicate the essential idea that a candidate should provide for each answer.

			Elsewhere: Rosinella and Massimo are married and demonstrate both romantic moments as well as conflict. Lucia is raised in devotion by her aunt and uncle who don't have their own children. Rosinella has clear ideas for how her family members should behave and tries to enforce this, often with a detrimental impact. She spoils Lucia in terms of gifts/treats but also in allowing her misbehaviour. Conversely Lucia's own dad (Luigi) has a new family in Italy and shows little interest in her, only asking her to return for his financial advantage. Massimo is close with his brother Franco. Franco sees the family relationships as restraining in terms of romantic relationships and other opportunities. Franco demonstrates love for his family as well eg playing with Lucia, visiting Rosinella and Massimo. The whole family is distraught when he dies in the war. Massimo and Franco's father feels annoyed that his sons do not wish to work in his shop. He does not always speak to them but still expects Rosinella to cut his toenails. When he dies during the internment period of the war, Massimo is devastated. Bridget and Hughie Devlin are also shown to have a close family relationship and care greatly for their mother who was widowed, and their brother who gets married. Hughie is, at times, considered to be almost part of the Pedreschi family.	8	4 additional marks can be awarded for similar references to at least one other text/part of the text by the writer. In practice this means: Identification of commonality (2) (eg: theme, central relationship, importance of setting, use of imagery, development in characterisation, use of personal experience, use of narrative style, or any other key element . . .) from the extract: 1 x relevant reference to technique (1) 1 x appropriate comment (1) OR 1 x relevant reference to idea (1) 1 x appropriate comment (1) OR 1 x relevant reference to feature (1) 1 x appropriate comment (1) OR 1 x relevant reference to text (1) 1 x appropriate comment (1) (maximum of 2 marks only for discussion of extract) from at least one other text/part of the text: as above (x2) for up to 4 marks

Question			Expected response(s)	Max mark	Additional guidance
17.			Extract: Neil – refuses to cooperate with request from LRC via Graham, due to a grudge following events of the beach hut. Feels he is defending his brother whom he loves, but also shows that he is determined/stubborn and resentful of the class system. Graham - he is aware of constraints of social class and upholds them ('Don't you know she owns all this estate...You can't expect her to come like a byremaid and say, "please!"') Lady Runcie Campbell – referred to as 'the mistress herself' and compared to a 'queen'. She is described as a woman of great wealth, power and intelligence who loves her son and would be generous to anyone who helped him. However, Neil feels she has treated them poorly eg 'lower than dogs'. Elsewhere: Neil – Proud and stubborn. Angered by inequalities in class. He resents the disparity between his situation and that of the 'mansion' ('a symbol of humiliation') which he views with 'calm yet bitter intentness' whilst 'waiting for it to change' – he feels that the social inequalities are unfair. Calum – childlike and innocent. Struggles with disabilities. Represents good/Christ-like allusions. Has an affinity with nature and loves animals. Is an excellent tree climber. Is murdered by Duror at the end of the novel.	8	Candidates may choose to answer in bullet points in this final question, or write a number of linked statements. 			Lady Runcie Campbell – a wealthy landowner with a Christian conscience which causes her conflict. Is in charge of the estate due to her husband being away in the war. Struggles to cope with Calum/Peggy and is easily influenced by Duror. Demonstrates uncharitable behaviour towards the CG eg deer drive, beach hut, squalid accommodation, but expects their help with Roderick. Roderick – the teenage son of LRC who disagrees with his parents' views of social status and seeks fairness/justice. He demonstrates disapproval when his mother/sister treat the CG poorly eg beach hut, lift in the car. He climbs the tree at the end trying to be like Calum. Roderick admires the cone gatherers (particularly Calum) despite their differences in social status. Roderick's views are heavily influenced by his grandfather. Setting – the houses on the estate (the hut, Duror's house, the beach hut, the mansion house) reflect the theme of social class.		from at least one other text/part of the text: as above (x2) for up to 4 marks

			Gideon and his father are goading each other throughout this extract (“Your wit is beneath you,” he said coolly.’) Elsewhere Gideon and his father have never got along. He was very strict with Gideon and showed little love towards him. As time went on it became apparent to Gideon that what they wanted for him was different and that he had disappointed his father, this turns into resentment on Gideon’s part. Gideon’s father is weakened by a stroke but rather than feeling sympathy, Gideon feels more able to stand up to him and defy him, although in the end, after his death, Gideon feels as though he has ‘become’ his father. Gideon’s mother is dutiful towards his father and is the quiet, passive homemaker he wanted from a wife. In return he ‘tolerates’ her and there is no real love seen in this relationship. His mother is supportive of Gideon but is quite distant and there is no real love shown towards him. This distance becomes even greater in her later years when she develops dementia. Distance is a feature of his own marriage to Jenny as right from the start she is his second choice as he loves Elsie who has gone with John. At the start his marriage is a good one, nevertheless, but as time goes on they grow further and further apart. Gideon’s love for Elsie is effectively the end of his marriage although when Jenny dies in a car crash he misses her and speaks to her regularly.		from the extract: 1 x relevant reference to technique (1) 1 x appropriate comment (1) OR 1 x relevant reference to idea (1) 1 x appropriate comment (1) OR 1 x relevant reference to feature (1) 1 x appropriate comment (1) OR 1 x relevant reference to text (1) 1 x appropriate comment (1) (maximum of 2 marks only for discussion of extract) from at least one other text/part of the text: as above (x2) for up to 4 marks

Critical Essay

If minimum standards have been achieved, then the supplementary marking grid will allow you to place the work on a scale of marks out of 20.

Once an essay has been judged to have met minimum standards, it does not have to meet all the suggestions for it to fall into a band of marks. More typically, there will be a spectrum of strengths and weaknesses which span bands.

Marking Principles for the Critical Essay are as follows:

- The essay should first be read to establish whether it relevance and the standards for technical accuracy outlined in the supplementary marking grid.
- If minimum standards are not achieved, the maximum mark which can be awarded is 9.
- If minimum standards have been achieved, then the supplementary marking grid will allow you to place the work on a scale of marks out of 20.

Note: Using the supplementary marking grid:

Bands are not grades. The five bands are designed primarily to assist with placing each candidate response at an appropriate point on a continuum of achievement. Assumptions about final grades or association of final grades with particular bands should not be allowed to influence objective assessment.
